CHRISTIAN CHURCHES

State Convention to be Held in Eureka—Rev. B. F. Thrapp on the Program.

Rev. B. F. Thrapp, of this city, who is on the program committee, has received copies of the official program for the state convention of Christian churches, which will be held at Eureka, Aug. 31 to Sept. 3. The railroads give a rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip. The convention will assemble at the tabernacle that is located on the college grounds and seats more than 1,200 people.

The boarding halls of the college make the town an excellent place for the convention. The program is strong in men and the speakers have had at least six months for preparation. Due diligence will be indulged by them and it is safe to say that the addresses will be a credit both to the speakers and to the body. The reports are up to the usual standard and the churches that have supported the work will enjoy the reading.

This society the Illinois Christian Missionary convention means much to the churches of the state. It carries forward all co-operative missionary work in the state, organizes the new churches, aids the weak ones, conducts the ministerial bureau, publishes the state organ, and is of a general utility nature to the membership. ## IMPROVEMENTS MADE

At the Woman's College—Few Changes in Faculty—The New Members.

While there have been no new additions built at the Woman's college this year Dr. Harker has had a large force of men at work at the institution during the greater part of the summer and a number of changes and improvements have been made.

The art room just off the main hallway on the west has been repainted and the walls tinted a sage green with the dado in a bottled green color. The room at the end of the south main hall, formerly used as a primary department, has been divided and will hereafter be used as living rooms for the boarding pupils, as will also the rooms on either side of this hallway, which were used for other purposes last year. The dining room, the chapel, all the recitation rooms and the basement hallway have been repainted and the latter has been sealed overhead.

The walls of the gymnasium have been repainted and the floor oiled and otherwise freshened up.

The recreation room in the basement of the east wing will be made more of this year and here the boarding pupils will find ample apparatus for the practical demonstration of the principles of domestic science. Two wash tubs have been installed, four ironing boards, a number of bunsen burners for use in popping corn and making candy and a number of other useful appliances that will contribute to the comfort and convenience of the pupils who make their home in the building.

The new addition on the east, known as the Self property, will be used for the primary department and commodious and well lighted quarters have been provided. A new steam heating plant has been installed and the second story of this building will be used as living rooms for all help connected with the institution.

Few changes will be made in the faculty of the college during the coming year. Dr. Harker now has twenty-three teachers in his teaching force and there will be but three changes in the number, as Dr. Harker believes that the best work can be done by a permanent faculty, who understands the spirit of the school and have a personal interest in its students. The literary faculty remains unchanged, except in the department of Latin, which will be in charge of Miss Gertrude Plank.

Miss Plank is a graduate of Wooster university with the degree of M. A. She made a specialty of Latin in her college course, and has for six years taught Latin in the high schools of Dwight, Ill., and Kent, Ohio. She has proved herself a teacher of unusual ability and is a woman of strong and attractive personality.

Miss Patterson, who has for nine years made the primary department a great success, will retire and her place will be taken by Miss Alta Dawson, of Lovington, Ill. Miss Dawson is one of the most successful primary teachers in the state, teaching for several years at Lovington and at Decatur under Superintendent Gastman. She has specialized in primary work in the state normal schools at Normal and Charleston. The primary department will have new and enlarged quarters in the building east of the college, in a beautifully lighted room, and will continue to be a most delightful school for the little ones.

Only one change occurs in the faculty of the College of Music, but there are some promotions. Mr. Stead has proved so thoroughly efficient as a director that he could not meet the demands alone and Mrs. Stead, who has been absent a year for advanced study with Madame Zeisler, is promoted to the rank of assistant director. Mrs. Kolp is promoted to be one of the first assistants in piano. Miss Williamson will be away for the year on leave of absence for advanced study, and her place will be taken by Miss Pearl C. Higby, of New York. Miss Higby received her first musical diploma from Fairfield Seminary. She then entered Utica Conservatory and finished both the graduate and post-graduate course, and was for ten years with the Utica Conservatory Concert company as pianist. She then entered the Chicago Musical college as a pupil of Herr Van Schuller, and on graduating from that institution received the Potter diamond medal as the best in a class of nearly one hundred. Miss Higby has had several years of successful teaching. Dr. Zeigfield, at the head of the Chicago Musical college, said that he considers Miss Higby one of the most brilliant pianists and best teachers the college has sent out.

For the department of physical culture Dr. Harker has secured Miss Eleanor Holmwood, of Chicago. Miss Holmwood will have special care of the health of the boarding students, supervising their exercise both out of doors and in the gymnasium. She has had special training for these duties and has also finished courses in Sloyd manual training and domestic science and in the care of the sick.

AT OLD SALEM

Chautauqua Closes To Day—Jacksonville Boys Winners in Athletic Events.

This season's session of the Old Salem Chautauqua at Petersburg, which will close to day, has been the greatest in the history of the association. Thousands have visited the grounds since its opening Aug. 6. There were 485 tents and 61 cottages on the grounds and it has been estimated that there were 2,000 regular campers. The program this year has been the best since the opening of the Chautauqua six years ago, and the management is to be congratulated upon the excellent talent secured.

In the athletic events held Saturday the Jacksonville boys were in the lead, having 17 points; Rushville second, with 16 and Petersburg third, with 12. George Smith, of this city, won first in the 50-yard dash and second in the 230 and 100 yard dashes. Moses Greenleaf won the pole vault and Stewart took third place in the running high jump. The failure of some of the Jacksonville team to appear accounts for the small lead. The meet will be concluded to day and the local boys have an excellent chance of winning.

A NATURAL RESULT.

It is very reasonable to suppose if the foundation of a structure was removed that the building itself is bound to come down. This same principle can be applied to disease. Take remove the cause of sickness, and the illness leaves of itself. Dyspepsia, indigestion, sickheadache and biliousness have their foundation in stomach disorders. Remove this weakness and the other symptoms are no more. There is one cure for this that all druggists sell for 25c per box, it is called Dr. Gunn's Improved Liver Pills. They get right at the beginning of these diseases and make the cure by taking away the cause of it. We will send a small box free by mail or a large box on receipt of 25c. Address Dr. Gunn, Philadelphia, Pa. For sale by Lee P. Allott.

SPECTACULAR PICTURES

Historical scenes in the production of "A Gentleman From Gascony" with accuracy and authority.

"A Gentleman From Gascony" is as much a spectacle as a drama. There are plenty of plot and counterplot and a series of incidents. Like most plays of the historical order, there is opportunity for action and effective groupings, plenty of picturesque costumes, flags, halberds and glided furniture. The first scene should be extremely animated. The people are rejoicing at the marriage of Henri and Marguerite of Navarre, the streets of St. Germain are blocked with mountebanks, gypsies, students and soldiers. The bustling is flying from every housetop and the air rings with the huzzas of the people. It is the carnival day, but now and then whippers are heard forbidding evil to follow these scenes of merriment. The streets are strewn with flowers. In the midst of the revelers the Gascon, Raoul de Puyecadre, appears. His dilapidated apparel causes laughter, but he declares himself to be a cavalier who has been roughly handled by a band of robbers. He emphasizes his story by drawing his sword and promising to cut an ear off anybody who would dare to doubt his word. The good hostess of the Rising Sun is only too glad to assist so excellent a gentleman, and offers not only her table and roof, but the choice of her husband's wardrobe. Raoul is a handsome fellow—so handsome that the Lady Gabrielle de Vrissac falls in love with him and does the best part of the wooing. She is maid of honor to the Queen Marguerite and assists her cavalier to the favor of Henri, and here commences the Gascon's fortune. The times are turbulent and he is a born fighter. He can carve his way through a mob of ruffians or a file of carabiniere. One happy chance gives him the opportunity to save Henri's life. Of course he is rewarded with a portfolio and the Lady Gabrielle is very proud of her favorite.

There are twenty speaking parts in the drama and as many supernumeraries as the stage will hold. M. W. Hanley & Son are the managers, and that means money and experience.

The Originals of Millais' Painting.

M. W. Hanley & Son have a new play entitled "A Gentleman From Gascony." The work is from the pen of Arthur D. Hall, dramatized from Bicknell Dudley's novel of the same name, and tells a story of love and adventure at the period when Henri of Navarre and his followers were contending for supremacy with the king of France and Catherine de Medici. It was the beautiful Gabrielle de Vrissac and Raoul de Puyecadre that Millais selected for his famous picture, which will be the subject of the tableau ending the first act. Like D'Artagnan, Raoul came to take a hand in the excitement of the times. He will fight the king's guards and woo the queen's cousin on the same evening and in the same dress. If the palace door is closed he will climb the wall; he will do and dare in the face of a dozen carabiniere.

The drama will have a liberal production. Managers M. W. Hanley & Son have engaged a large acting company besides a number of singers, acrobats and revellers needed for the festival scene. This will probably be the most pretentious spectacle seen this season.

To Seek His Fortune.

"A Gentleman From Gascony," Hanley & Son's play, is a dramatization of Bicknell Dudley's novel of the same name and tells of how a poor gentleman came from Gascony to seek his fortune at the court of Henri of Navarre. The turbulent times favored the adventurer, who fought his way to the confidence of Henri and the hand of Gabrielle de Vrissac, the fair maid of honor to Queen Marguerite. The scenes of the drama are exciting and picturesque and will give an idea of those terrible days. The romantic drama is much in vogue just now, and there is reason to believe that the production will be well received.

Managers M. W. Hanley & Son will stage the play in first class style, and of course the costumes are historical and the scenic effects true to the romantic period.

A Thrilling Play.

A romantic drama, entitled "A Gentleman From Gascony," is Hanley & Son's latest production, and, by all accounts, one of the most thrilling plays of the medieval period. It is a story introducing King Henri of Navarre and his famous band of followers who figured in the historical crisis in France in 1572. No epoch of history is more thrilling than this. The opportunity for gorgeous scenic effects is also great. This performance will be a feast for the lovers of romance.

The Proper Atmosphere.

Appropriate and picturesque costume helps to the success of a play. The actor folks, newspaper men and others, however, who have been privileged to witness stage rehearsals can understand this, for at rehearsal, when the players go through their roles in ordinary clothes, the effect is so far lost as to be frequently ludicrous. Managers M. W. Hanley & Son had this fact in mind in preparing the accessories for "A Gentleman From Gascony."

A Heavy Production.

The scenery that will be shown in Mr. A. D. Hall's romantic drama, "A Gentleman From Gascony," adapted from the stirring novel of that title, is among the most massive and beautiful employed for a dramatic enterprise. Managers M. W. Hanley & Son have spared no expense to have the models made and photographs actually taken of the localities described in the play.

FOR THE CHILDREN

One afternoon last year my brother...

A great many of our friends told us if we split his tongue he would talk, but they could not say that they had ever heard one talk, so we did not do it. We taught him to say "Hello" and "How do you do?" quite plainly. When he was angry he would scold away at us with all his might. We kept a cup at the well on purpose for Jim, and when he was thirsty he would come and rattle the cup. We would come at his call and fill it up for him. When he had drunk all he wished to he would never fail to tip the cup over and watch the water run out on the platform of the well.

He delighted in carrying things off whenever he could get a chance. When we gave him angleworms he would fly upon the top of the house and stick them under the shingles.

In the morning he would fly up to my brother's room and sit on the window sill and call until he awoke him.

One morning late in the summer we missed our Jim. We called and called, but no Jim came to get his breakfast, and we saw him no more. We think that he must have been killed, as it was too early for the crows to migrate. —Genevieve Parker in Housekeeper.

Game of "Squela."

This game is something like blind man's bluff, and if the day is a rainy one and the room a large, empty one and the players merry and many so much the better. The catcher is blindfolded and occupies the center of a circle formed by the rest of the company, who clap hands and dance around, while the catcher recites these lines:

"I must catch my pigs and put 'em in the pen, I must catch my pigs and put 'em in the pen, For 'tis market day in the morning."

As the last word is spoken the moving ring stops short, and the catcher puts out his hand and selects his pig. This one clutch is all that is allowed. Then the catcher says:

"Hold! Before I make my choice, I would hear my captive's voice."

The person caught gives a squela, and if the catcher cannot guess to whom the squela belongs the captive is set free, joins hands with the others and the fun begins again. If the catcher falls three times running to make the right guess he is out of the game entirely, but he is allowed to name his successor, who steps at once to the center, is carefully blindfolded and the game goes on.

Not Basting Threads.

An industrious little junior who is in the habit of going into the sewing room and asking to help mamma is generally set to work pulling out basting threads. She is a wee mite, only six years old, and the other day enjoyed a visit from her aunt. She was being entertained by the latter in the hammock, when all at once she cried out:

"Oh, Aunt J., put your head down on my lap, so I can pull the basting threads out of your hair. Your head is full of them."

The child was really hurt when her aunt laughed at her, and not until she had been convinced that the supposed basting threads were gray hairs was her wound healed.

Giving Aunt Solitude.

Small Ethel's aunt, had many cares and was often heard to sigh for solitude—just an hour of rest and solitude a day would be to her a priceless boon. "Aunt," said Ethel suddenly one day, "when I am real rich, when I have millions of dollars, the first thing I will do will be to hire a real soldier with a real gun to stand and guard your door so you can have all the solitude you want. I will pay him $1,000 a week."

Aunt expressed her appreciation of the arrangement.

"But, aunt," added Ethel, in a sadly reflective tone, "I just know I will be the first person to get shot!" —New York Tribune.

His Idea of It.

Johnny's mother believed that pineapple was not wholesome for little boys, so the lad never ate any of the fruit until he visited his aunt. When it was put before him he looked at it with suspicion and then cautiously tasted it.

"Do you know what it is?" asked his aunt.

"I think," answered Johnny, evidently satisfied that he liked it, "that it is wooden lemonade."

A Young Princess.

Aunt A. penny for your thoughts. Little Nephew—I was thinking that if I kept quiet and pretended to be thinking you'd wonder what I was thinking about and say just what you did. (Grimace the penny.)

Stumpy.

Poor Stumpy was a tall one. Of pedigree unknown. He came to live with us because of kindness we had shown.

He loved to play around with us at his and our ball. But there was just one little mite he loved the best of all.

And when at night we put him out And he would not go. "Oh, Stumpy," said that little mite, "I'm crying for you."

—Anna Temple.

GORGEOUS FESTIVITIES

The romantic play by Arthur D. Hall...

The romantic play by Arthur D. Hall entitled "A Gentleman From Gascony" was dramatized from Bicknell Dudley's popular novel. The scenario shows excellent possibilities for effective groupings and exciting situations. The play opens with the festivities at St. Germain in honor of the marriage of Henri of Navarre and the Princess Marguerite. The people are rejoicing and making merry on the public streets, bands of mountebanks and vendors are entertaining the villagers who have flocked to the city, which is gay with flags and festoons; it is a veritable carnival. Mendicants, artisans, soldiers and nobles jostle together and join in the songs and huzzas with a wild and reckless enthusiasm. Presently the hero appears in the mob and provokes much laughter by his unkempt appearance, but he proclaims himself to be a nobleman who has been ill used and robbed by banditti. In borrowed clothes he makes his way to the palace, and, pushing aside the doubters of his quality, reaches the ear of the king, who is at first angered at being engaged by an impostor. The Gascon, however, is handsome and quickly wins the graces of the Lady Gabrielle, who in turn asks the intercession of the queen, and he is engaged in the royal service. The opportunities for distinction are plentiful. The edict of Catherine de Medici is causing much fear and countless men are needed. Brawls and secret arrests are occurring every hour and lives are not safe; even Henri is subject to attack and is saved by the daredevil Gascon. The fearful Reign of Terror affords many chances for this reckless soldier of fortune. The production is under the management of M. W. Hanley & Son and will be equipped in magnificent style.

Saved the King's Life.

M. W. Hanley & Son present a romantic drama, adapted by Arthur D. Hall from the novel of Bicknell Dudley, entitled "A Gentleman From Gascony." It is a story of 1572, and tells of the times when Catherine de Medici invited Henri of Navarre to Paris to marry her daughter, Marguerite de Valois, presumably to reconcile the religious. The hero of the story is a Gascon who had attached himself to Henri's person. This daring soldier was noted for reckless adventures, and was a fair match for any half dozen of the regina's minions. If chance favored he would kill a ruffian for every meal and kiss the hostess of the tavern as he cleaned his sword. In one brawl he saved Henri's life, and was duly rewarded. As a daring soldier he was equally a daring lover, and succeeded in winning the hand of the fairest maid of the court. The play is of the now popular vogue, romantic of atmosphere and brilliant ensemble. The lovers of the historical will enjoy "A Gentleman From Gascony" and see some faithful pictures of medieval chivalry.

Story of the Huguenots.

"A Gentleman From Gascony," Bicknell Dudley's popular novel dramatized by Arthur D. Hall, tells a love story of the Huguenots. Henri and Marguerite of Navarre are important personages in the drama. The leading character is one Raoul de Puyecadre, a Gascon adventurer, who wins the hand of the fair Gabrielle de Vrissac, maid of honor to the queen. Managers M. W. Hanley & Son promise a big production. The scenery is all new and of the medieval period, the costumes will be extremely picturesque and historically correct, animated scenes such as the coronation festivities, conspirators' meetings and encounters, incidental to St. Bartholomew's day, require large numbers of auxiliaries on the stage and exciting action. The cast calls for twenty speaking parts.

Expectations Amply Justified.

It is a fact not surprising that ladies favor the romantic play, in which picturesque and brave men can woo and fight in the same hour with equal perfection. Such roles are pleasant to contemplate, as they are types of the masterpiece man, and when a play is produced with finish and completeness it does not fail to prove a favorite. The equipment and presentation of "A Gentleman From Gascony" involved considerable outlay, but the amount was willingly given by the managers, M. W. Hanley & Son, who did not doubt the drawing powers of the drama, and the success that has attended the new production has amply justified their expectations.

A Famous Story.

The famous story of the Huguenot captain is again revived in M. W. Hanley & Son's production of "A Gentleman From Gascony." No epoch of French history is more thrilling than the period of 1572 and the heroism of Raoul de Puyecadre and the fair Gabrielle de Vrissac. The opportunity for gorgeous scenic effects is also great, and this performance will be a feast for the lovers of romance.

Houseboats on the Mississippi.

There is an especial charm about life on a houseboat on the Mississippi. Unlike houseboats on most bodies of water, they can land whenever they will and enjoy any chance pleasure by the way. Cities are in easy reach, and even a theater party can be indulged in at short notice. Between St. Paul and St. Louis seven magnificent rivers can be reached by boats, passing through more than that number of states.

From La Crosse to St. Louis houseboats meet the eye every few moments.

At every town along the river one sees boats lying on the shore. They are usually moored in little bays, with their launches alongside, and shaded by the overhanging branches of trees. When a steamer passes the occupants appear at the doors and windows and sometimes go to the upper deck to wave their greetings. When the water is very high the boats fit in so perfectly that the lovely green foliage seems to have grown in anticipation of the coming of each particular boat.

Numerous houseboats are in course of construction along the river. Many are to be used by their owners to visit the St. Louis exposition next year. —Minnesota Journal.

Perils of Ballooning.

Balloon ascents are attended by many dangers, but a novel peril was experienced by an aeronaut in India some time ago. As night came on the aerial traveler found himself nearing a jungle and resolved to descend on a marshy spot at the edge of a lake. As he came down into the rushes, however, a crocodile appeared and made straight for the balloon. The aeronaut by throwing out some sand managed to rise a few feet, but the crocodile rushed round and round the grapple rope, clearly disproving the fallacy that a crocodile cannot turn quickly. It would probably have made short work of the unlucky voyager had not some natives come up just in time. —Golden Penny.

Professor Bell's Powerful Kite.

Professor Alexander Graham Bell has lately invented a variation in the form of box kites whereby he obtains a greatly increased flying or lifting power. His kite is a tetrahedron, so that it presents the form of a triangle from whatever side it is viewed. It is then self braced in every direction, and with increase of size its lifting power increases in a greater ratio than the weight. By combining a great number of tetrahedrons he has constructed a large kite, which is able to lift not only a man, but a weight of 200 pounds.

Solyman I. having sat upon the throne from 1520 to 1566. ## MINTING'S RETURN.

Minting, the Marvel, returned to London last fall after concluding a summer's engagement with the Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Shows, and began his second engagement at the London Aquarium, the great permanent exhibition in the world's metropolis. When he left the Aquarium to come to America to join the Forepaugh-Sells Shows he had been exhibiting there for two years and seven months, the longest engagement ever played by any performer in Europe.

He returned to America again last spring to begin his second engagement with the Forepaugh Sells Shows and is now with them appearing at every afternoon and evening exhibition. His act is one of the greatest single circus acts ever known. No other can compare with it in the elements of nerve, skill and strength. He rides a single wheel of a bicycle up and down a high spiral tower. There are very few bicycle riders who could ride up a grade so steep on two wheels. The skill and strength to ride up and down such a grade that is at no time straight can scarcely be imagined. There are very few professional trick bicycle riders who can ride a single wheel on a level floor. He will be here with the Forepaugh-Sells Shows, together with the famous Diavolo, who loops the loop on a bicycle, the most daring feat ever attempted; the Aurora-Zouaves, generally acknowledged the world's best drilled soldiers, twenty-four champion bareback riders, a score of famous aerialists and an army of clever clowns. The date of the big aggregation is Friday, Sept. 4.

FUNERALS.

PLUMMER.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hannah S. Plummer was conducted from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Crain on South Clay avenue Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Many friends of the deceased had gathered to pay the last tribute of respect for the dead.

The solemn impressive services were in charge of Rev. A. L. T. Ewert, who spoke feelingly of the long life of the deceased in the service of God, and of her many good works. A choir consisting of Misses Rawlings and Owen, and Mr. Schofield sang appropriate hymns. The many floral tributes tokened the love and esteem in which Mrs. Plummer was held.

After the services the remains were conveyed to Jacksonville cemetery and there laid to rest. The bearers were Thomas Kershaw, George Fox, James Dickens, J. W. Wright, Abraham Gregory and George Brady.

DE SOUZA.

The funeral of Joaquim De Souza was conducted from the Portuguese Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. R. F. Cressey had charge of the services and to the large number who had gathered to pay a last tribute to one they had esteemed so highly, he spoke most feelingly. Music was furnished by a choir consisting of Mrs. Ed Marks, Mrs. John Cherry, J. R. Fernandes and Edward Marks. The many beautiful flowers sent in by admiring friends were cared for by Mrs. James Boston, Mrs. John Day and Miss Belle Ferreira. Interment was in Jacksonville cemetery and the bearers were John Fernandes, Antonio Nunes, Manuel Nunes, James Boston, John Day and Manuel Day.

HICKS.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah E. Hicks was conducted from her late residence, 206 South Prairie street, Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. There was a large attendance, as the deceased was beloved by many outside the family circle.

The services were in charge of Rev. A. L. T. Ewert, of Centenary church, who paid a most eloquent tribute to the noble self-sacrificing Christian character of the deceased and his remarks regarding home and mother were most appropriate and were especially applicable to the occasion and to the one whose memory was being honored. He spoke of the tender ministrations that are known only to those who give them and of the inseparable connection of the words home and mother. They are linked in an indissoluble union and when one thinks of home he is thinking not of the place but of the loving care and associations of one who made the place a hallowed spot. Rev. Mr. Ewert read the 23d Psalm and another selection from the book of Timothy, passages of Scripture often read by the deceased. He took as his text Cor. II, 5-1, "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

How blessed is such promise and how sure we are, that the deceased has realized its fulfillment. This is not an occasion for sorrow, but for joy, the departed spirit has gone to its coronation and to a realization of those things that are promised the faithful here on earth. She has been allotted the three score years and ten and has rounded out a well ordered life tempered by love and a desire to attain unto the higher things that are of God. Let us be thankful for her example and may this occasion be full of deep significance for us all who in a brief cycle of time will be called by the same silent messenger.

Rev. Mr. Ewert offered a most fervent prayer and appropriate music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Mrs. E. E. Crabtree and Miss Anne Young and Messrs. J. P. Reed and T. H. Ray, who sang "Rock of Ages," "Asleep in Jesus" and "Nearer My Home."

The many beautiful floral tokens tokened the thoughtfulness and affection of kind friends and were a loving tribute.

From the house the remains were tenderly borne to Jacksonville cemetery, where they were laid to rest in a grave robbed of its sadness by the many floral offerings. The bearers were H. M. Pratt, S. Calky, D. W. Osborne, C. A. Osborne, J. M. Vail, and T. M. Tomlinson.

WATSON.

The funeral of Mrs. John Watson was conducted from the M. E. church at Lynnville Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. J. L. Wylder, assisted by Rev. J. W. Camp, conducted the services. The attendance was very large, many who had known her so well for so many years gathered at the church to pay a last respect to the memory of one who had gone from them and the record of whose life would ever be a happy remembrance. As a token of the high esteem in which she was held many beautiful flowers bore silent testimony. "Meet Me There," "Gathering Home" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul" were the songs sung by the regular church choir. The bearers were Samuel Heaton, Charles Potter, Henry Watt, George Beck, L. R. Shurtleff and George Fligg. Interment was made in Diamond Grove cemetery.

Mayor Manley and Town Board of Franklin Differ Over Appointment of City Marshal.

A controversy which arose in Franklin over the appointment of the city marshal was settled Monday by appeal to County Judge Barnes and other county and city officials.

It seems Mayor W. C. Manley, who was elected as a Democrat last April, appointed Mr. Mansfield, a Republican, as city marshal. The town board, which is Democratic, refused to confirm the appointment. Mansfield, however, continued to serve and at the end of every thirty days drew his salary. A few days ago Mayor Manley left on a month's vacation and since his absence four members of the town board convened, elected one of their number president pro tem and proceeded to appoint C. J. Wright city marshal. Mansfield and his friends protested and representatives of both sides were in the city Monday consulting the authorities.

Wm. Whalen, George Olinger, G. M. Wright, J. W. Woods, N. Z. Reinbach, C. J. Wright, Joseph Dowell and Mr. Mansfield were among the number of Franklin residents in the city. The appointing power in such cases rests with the mayor and the board is without power in the premises.

PICKLE BLIGHT

Threatened Defect in Cucumber Crop Alarms Growers in Macoupin County.

Carlinville, Aug. 17.—A blight has recently appeared in many of the cucumber patches of this country that, has caused no little alarm, not only among pickle raisers, but among pickle packers. As there are several thousand acres planted to cucumbers in this county, a blight is looked upon as a serious question.

John W. Dodson, a member of the Dodson-Braun Manufacturing company, of St. Louis was here to day and went over several of the patches in the neighborhood, including the farm they have leased south of the city. This company has a branch establishment here and this year they expected to salt fully 150,000 bushels of pickles. The early crop was slow in coming in and when the vines should have been bearing heaviest it was found they were dying.

The Dodson-Braun company have pickles growing in the states of Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Iowa, and in all these states excepting Iowa the blight has made its appearance. The authorities at Washington have had the matter under investigation for some two years, the blight having first made its appearance in the states of Ohio and Pennsylvania. They recommended spraying with a chemical solution, but practical and scientific growers say this treatment is of absolutely no benefit.

The heaviest day's receipts at the Carlinville plant was 300 bushels yesterday, when it should have been fully 2,000 bushels. The later crop is not yet affected with the blight.
